BUSINESS REPORT

(April 1, 2002, to March 31, 2003)

1. Operating Conditions

(1) Operating Progress and Results

(a) Overview

Fiscal 2003, ended March 31, 2003, was yet another very difficult year. It was still impossible to see signs of a Japanese economic turnaround amid concerns about prospects for the United States and other economies around the world and stagnant share prices. While the American economy remained strong in the first half of the year, the picture became cloudy in the second half amid slowing personal consumption and deteriorating business conditions. European economies were generally slow. In contrast, the Chinese economy continued to expand solidly on growing domestic demand and higher exports.

Against this backdrop, the Ricoh Group pursued its vision of being a winner in the 21st century. Under that banner, we aim to continue to provide high reliability and build new value so that we can contribute to productivity improvement and knowledge creation for individuals working anytime, anywhere, providing high reliability and new value greation. Our proactive approach covers not only products and services for traditional office setups but also customers working at any time and place in a broadband environment.

Our three-year 14th medium-term management plan, which ends in March 2005, has five basic objectives:

- i. Realize a vital and motivated culture
- ii. Strengthen technologies to become the world's No. 1 product-engineering company
- iii. Build a customer-friendly and environmentally friendly company
- iv. Strengthen each business unit and revolutionize the Group business structures
- v. Strengthen management constitution for competitive advantage

We are meeting the challenges of digital networking in our core competence of office equipment. We have accordingly endeavored since our 13th medium-term management plan to not only manufacture such equipment as copiers and printers but also overhaul our operational structure to help our customers improve or enhance productivity through our offerings.

In the years ahead, demand should continue to rise for productivity enhancement. At the same time, further advances in digital networking will generate greater reliance on color-based documents and expand the amount of information, making it increasingly critical for customers to more efficiently manage their Total Document Volume (TDV) from copiers and printers.

Our 14th medium-term management plan thus focuses on building TDV (which includes increasing added value per page) and thereby broadening our revenues and earnings base. Our basic strategy has three goals:

i. Replacing monochrome products with color models

Provide a full lineup of compact color machines at prices comparable to those of monochrome models, thus securing new markets by meeting new demand for color.

- ii. Expanding sales of high-speed models
 - Attract more customers through fast machines providing competitive advantages in terms of purchase price, maintenance charges, and reliability.
- iii. Deploying printing solutions
 - Suggest ways for customers to optimize the total output costs of their copiers and printers, thus expanding equipment sales and building total document volume.

Following are Ricoh's major basic strategic achievements in fiscal 2003.

In terms of replacing monochrome products with color models, the Company continued to win top marks in Japan and abroad for its IPSiO Color 8000 series (Aficio AP 3800C overseas) of fast color laser printers, which deliver color performance at monochrome speed and price. During the term, we released the Imagio Neo C240/C320 series of multifunctional printers (MFPs) for regular offices, which helped expand our share of the domestic color copier market. We also started selling this series overseas as the Aficio 1224C/1232C.

In high-speed models, the Imagio MF105Pro (Aficio 1050 overseas) digital copier was very well received domestically and abroad for its affordable pricing and maintenance fees and reliability. This machine attracted more customers seeking high-volume copying and output.

We continued to make progress in printing solutions. In the European and U.S. markets in particular, we drew on a global service and support structure that optimizes total printing costs for copiers and printers to steadily increase the number of major accounts worldwide.

During the term, we established Ricoh China Co., Ltd., as a holding company to broaden our operations in the highly promising Chinese market. Ricoh has already achieved impressive results to date in China, and the new subsidiary is strategically expanding our business by integrating sales, production, and development.

Ricoh is striving to bolster its technological capabilities to become the world's No. 1 product-engineering company, providing the most competitive products and services. Specific focuses include technologies to develop next-generation, high-speed color imaging equipment and designing and developing hardware and software that allow users to freely and simply connect and operate various office machines. We are also pursuing the creation of environmentally friendly offerings. In the year under review, we set up four research centers within the Research and Development Division to support the development of basic technologies, including one specializing in photonics and another concentrating on environmental technologies. We also established operations within the Software Research and Development Division.

During the term, we decided to make Tohoku Ricoh Co., Ltd., a wholly owned subsidiary. This was in line with our goal of reinforcing Group development and design capabilities to ensure an integrated strategic approach while delivering cost-competitive offerings.

In fiscal 2003, nonconsolidated domestic sales were down 6.5%, while exports rose 8.4%. As a result, net sales dropped 0.6%, to ¥855.0 billion. Operating income rose 2.8%, to ¥71.8 billion, while ordinary income increased 1.8%, to ¥68.8 billion, on the strength of cost reductions and a shift to high-value-added products. Net income improved 7.0%, to a record ¥42.8 billion.

(b) Segment Performance

Sales by Category

Category	Main Products	Sales (Billions of yen)	Percentage of Total	Change
Imaging Solutions	Digital PPCs, color PPCs, digital duplicators, Facsimile machines, analog PPCs, diazo copiers, supplies and services, and thermal paper	474.9	55.5%	-8.5%
Network Input/Output Systems	Multifunctional printers (MFPs), printers and other equipment, supplies, service, and software, and optical discs and systems and scanners	237.7	27.8%	26.0%
Network System Solutions	Personal computers, servers, network systems, networking software, applications software, and services and support	89.6	10.5%	-10.6%
Office Equipment Total	-	802.3	93.8%	-0.7%
Other Businesses Including photographic equipment and semiconductors		52.7	6.2%	1.1%
Total -		855.0	100.0%	-0.6%
Domestic	-	484.1	56.6%	-6.5%
Exports	-	370.8	43.4%	8.4%

Note: Until fiscal 2002, the Company maintained four categories, which were Copiers and Related Supplies, Communications and Information Systems, Photographic Equipment, and Other Businesses. The above categories came into effect from fiscal 2003. Accordingly, the Company has calculated year on year changes on the basis of the new categories.

Office Equipment

To support customers more efficiently manage their TDV, the Ricoh Group offers solution proposals for these customers to optimize their total printing costs. To realize this business target, Ricoh is pushing ahead with digitization, networking, colorization, and multifunctionality. As a result of these efforts, sales of imaging solutions, which focus on standalone equipment, were down 8.5% from a year earlier, to \(\frac{4}{4}74.9\) billion. In contrast, sales of network input/output solutions rose 26.0%, to \(\frac{4}{2}37.7\) billion, reflecting the popularity of MFPs and laser printers. Sales of network system solutions declined 10.6%, to \(\frac{4}{8}9.6\) billion. This was mainly because sales of personal computers and servers continued to decline in Japan, reflecting sluggish information technology spending.

Other Businesses

Here, sales were up 1.1%, to ¥52.7 billion, on solid demand for the Company's semiconductors overseas.

(2) Plant and Equipment Investment

In fiscal 2003, we invested ¥18.3 billion in plant and equipment, as follows:

(a) Major equipment and facilities expansions completed during the year:

Electronic components plant (Ya shiro Plant)

Related supplies plant (Numazu Plant)

Related supplies plant (Fukui Plant)

(b) Major expansions in progress during the year:

Electronic components plant (Yashiro Plant)

Related supplies plant (Numazu Plant) Related supplies plant (Fukui Plant)

(3) Funding

During the year, Ricoh neither raised capitalization nor procured finance through the issue of corporate bonds or other instruments.

(4) Summary of Nonconsolidated Operating Results

(Billions of yen)

(b) Consolidations

There were no specific transfers of subsidiaries to mention. Tohoku Ricoh Co., Ltd., became a wholly owned subsidiary following a share exchange on April 1, 2003.

(c) Consolidation Results

In fiscal 2003, the Ricoh Group had 334 consolidated subsidiaries and 61 affiliates accounted for under the equity method. Consolidated results were as follows:

(Billions of yen)

Total shareholders' investment	541.5	556.7	633.0	657.5

Notes:

- 1. The consolidated financial statements were prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States
- 2. Net income per share is based on the average number of shares of common stock during the period under review.

In fiscal 2003, ended March 31, 2003, consolidated net sales increased 3.9%, to ¥1,738.3 billion. This was the ninth consecutive rise.

Domestic sales were down 0.7%, to ¥896.0 billion. On the positive side sales increased for printing systems such as MFPs and laser printers. Sales were also favorable for useware, document management, and other areas of the solutions business. In contrast, sales of standalone analog equipment fell amid the shift toward MFPs, while sales were off for personal computer and servers due primarily to the sluggish domestic information technology demand. Sales declined for measuring equipment as a result of slow demand cycle.

Overseas sales increased 9.4%, to ¥842.3 billion. Sales were steady despite an economic slowdown in the United States and the turmoil in the Middle East. The Company continued to perform well in Europe, where the economic environment stabilized, and in other areas. In terms of sales by product lines, sales of core digital equipment increased solidly, while sales of strategic focused printing systems increased significantly in Europe and the United States. Optical disc and semiconductors operations enjoyed favorable sales.

Gross profit increased 6.5%, to ¥745.3 billion. In both Japan and abroad, sales were up for high-margin, high-value-added products, notably MFPs and laser printers. Ongoing cost reductions also contributed to performance, while the yen's depreciation against the euro also affected operations. The Company incurred additional costs owing to cover quality problems on some metering equipment.

Selling, general and administrative expenses increased 7.3%, to ¥611.6 billion, reflecting strategic spending on research and development and on basic systems development.

As a result of the above factors, operating income increased 3.1%, to ¥133.6 billion.

Interest and dividend income decreased due primarily to sluggish financial markets. On the other hand, foreign exchange losses fell, while the Company constrained interest-bearing debt by reinforcing cash management systems in Japan, the United States, and Europe. Ricoh valued its holdings of marketable securities appropriately in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. As the result, income before income taxes, minority interests and equity in earnings of affiliates increased 8.4%, to ¥123.4 billion.

Net income thus surged 17.7%, to \(\frac{\pma}{72.5}\) billion, the 11th consecutive increase and the ninth consecutive record high.

3. Challenges

Economic prospects remain unclear in the United States, which drives the global economy. At the same time, the Japanese equity markets remain in the doldrums, and we estimate that the global economy will continue to suffer low growth. On top of that, competition is very intense in the color and digital networking fields.

The Ricoh Group's prime priorities in continuing to achieve growth in such a tough operating environment are to create new customer value while further improving management efficiency, thereby bolstering corporate competitiveness.

It is critical for us to become the world's No. 1 product-engineering company so we can identify new needs and provide superior value. To that end, we will redouble efforts to provide new value through out customer satisfaction-oriented management while solidifying our technological clout so we can deliver new value through our products and services.

In building and providing such value, Ricoh aims to meet its goals of being people-friendly and environmentally friendly. In other words, we are pursuing ease of use so customers can take full advantage of products and services that are becoming increasingly complex as digital networking progresses. We are also endeavoring to reinforce our environmental management as part of our mission without compromising profitability.

We are making steady progress in streamlining efficiency through process reforms in all Group fields as part of a drive to improve capital efficiency and earnings. In addition, we aim to slash costs and thereby raise price competitiveness, thus realizing a low-cost management structure that can provide high efficiency in deflationary environments.

It is also a most important management challenge to prevent the sorts of scandals that have occurred in Japan and abroad recently that have shaken community trust.

The Group is addressing this issue in line with its commitment to its responsibilities as a member of society, striving to serve the interests of its customers and other stakeholders while strengthening its management organization.

4. Subsequent Events

The Company and Tohoku Ricoh Co., Ltd., agreed at their respective boards of directors held on December 17, 2002, the Company making Tohoku Ricoh a wholly owned subsidiary through a share exchange, after which share exchange contracts were concluded. The exchange was in accordance with the provisions of Paragraph 1 of Article 358 (Simplified Share Exchange) of the Commercial Code of Japan, and was effective on April 1, 2003. The allocation ratio was 0.345 shares of Ricoh stock per share of Tohoku Ricoh stock. Ricoh's treasury stock purchased prior to this transaction was used for the shares to be allocated for this share exchange, in accordance with Article 210 of the Commercial Code of Japan.

I. Significant Accounting Policies

1. Valuation method for securities

(1) Stocks of subsidiaries and affiliates

Securities of subsidiaries and affiliates are stated at moving average cost.

(2) Other securities

-Marketable securities: Marketable securities are marked to market based on the market price at the end of the term and other factors (accounting for all valuation differences with the full capital injection method; the cost of securities sold is valued at moving average cost).

- Non-marketable securities: Non-marketable securities are stated at cost based on the moving average method.

2. Valuation method for inventories

Inventories are stated at the lower of average cost.

3. Valuation standards and methods for derivatives

Derivatives are stated at market value.

4. Depreciation and amortization

(1) Property, Plant and Equipment

Depreciation of property, plant and equipment is computed principally by using the declining-balance method.

However buildings (excluding fixtures) acquired after April 1, 1998, are depreciated using the straight-line method. However, buildings (excluding fixtures) acquired after April 1, 1998, are depreciated using the straight-line method. The depreciation periods are basically as the below;

Buildings: 5-50 years

Machinery and equipment: 2-12 years

(2) Intangible Assets

Amortization of intangible asset is computed by using the straight-line method.

With software for sale in the marketplace, however, the Company records the larger of a depreciation based on projected sales profits or a uniform depreciation based on a projected effective sales period for the balance. The initially projected effective sale term is three years. With software for internal use, the Company uses straight-line depreciation based on a usable period of five years.

5. Basis for provision of reserves

(1) Allowance for Doubtful Accounts

The allowance for doubtful accounts is provided to cover possible losses from bad debts and represents possible individual doubtful accounts based on historical default rates and the potential for irrecoverability.

(2) Reserve for Accrued Bonuses

The reserve for accrued bonuses is provided by estimating the amount of bonuses payable to employees for the current financial year under our corporate rules for calculating such bonus payment.

(3) Warranty reserve

To cover product after-sales service expenses, the Company calculates the product warranty reserve based on projected service costs during warrantee terms.

(4) Accrued pension and severance costs

To cover projected employee benefits, the Company records the estimated obligations at the end of the current fiscal year based on projected year-end benefit obligations and plan assets. Amortization of actuarial gains or losses is computed by the straight-line method over the averaged remaining employment term (15 years). Amortization of prior service cost is computed by the straight-line method over the averaged remaining employment term (15 years).

(Additional information)

On January 1,2003, the Company obtained an approval for the exemption from the future benefit obligation of the Japanese government of the substitute portion in accordance with new law concerning the defined benefit plan. The Company has not adopted transitional measure as set forth in the "Practice Guideline Concerning Retirement Benefit Accounting (Interim Report)" (Report of the Accounting Standards Committee of The Japanese Institute of Certified Public Accountants No. 13), Item 47-2. The effect of the transitional measure as set forth in this Practice Guideline, Item 47-2 is expected to increase extra ordinary gain by \mathbb{\cupample}13,146 million.

(5) Reserve for Directors' Retirement Allowances

At year-end, Ricoh calculates the amounts required under internal rules to pay directors retirement allowances, in compliance with Article 287-2 of the Commercial Code prior to the changes of 2002.

6. Consumption Taxes

Consumption taxes are excluded from revenues and expenses.

7. Leasing

Finance leases for which ownership does not transfer to lessees are accounted for as operating leases.

8. Hedge accounting

(1) Hedge Accounting Methods

Ricoh accounts for hedges at market value. With currency swaps, however, the Company hedges by assigning transactions that meet assignment requirements.

(2) Hedging Instruments and Targets

There is no Hedging Instrument or Hedging Target at the end of current fiscal year.

(3) Hedging policies

In keeping with its internal Market Risk Management Rules, Ricoh uses derivatives to manage the exposure of its assets and liabilities to market fluctuations.

(4) Hedge Effectiveness

Ricoh assesses the effectiveness of hedges by analyzing the ratios of the total market fluctuations of hedged targets and instruments.

9. Accounting standard regarding treasury stock and reduction of legal reserve

The company adopted "Accounting standard regarding treasury stock and reduction of regal reserve" (Accounting Standard No. 1) from fiscal 2003. The new standard had immaterial effect on results of operations. Accounting in shareholders' investment is in compliance with the implementation regulations of the Commercial Code prior to the 2003 revision (Finance Ministry ordinance 22 of March 29, 2002).

10. Earnings per share

The company adopted "Accounting standard for earning per share" (Accounting Standard No. 2) and "Application guideline for accounting standard for earnings per share" (Application guideline for accounting standard No. 4) from fiscal 2003. Earnings per share calculated under the method used in the previous fiscal year were ¥59.01.

IV. Retirement Allowance Plans

1. Explanation of retirement allowance plan adopted:

The Company maintains a lump-sum retirement payments as part of its retirement allowance payments, which includes a qualified pension plan based on deposits. Payable allowances under the plan are determined by salary at retirement, years of service, and reasons for retirement. The Company also maintains an employees' pension fund (adjusted pension) plan based on the Welfare Pension Insurance Law. The employees' pension fund plan consists of two portions: the basic portion is deposited by the company and the employee, where the company plays a part in the public pension system; and an additional portion. The additional pension is determined by the years of service and the salary at retirement. The Company maintains an employee retirement allowance trust.

Independent Auditor's Report

April 28, 2003

The Board of Directors Ricoh Company, Ltd.

Asahi & Co.

Teruo Suzuki(Seal) Representative Partner Certified Public Accountant

Tetsuzo Hamajima(Seal) Representative Partner and Engagement Partner Certified Public Accountant

Mikihiro Himeno(Seal) Engagement Partner Certified Public Accountant

We have audited the statutory report, that is the balance sheet, the statement of income, the business report (limited to accounting matters) and the proposal for appropriation of unappropriated retained earnings, and its supporting schedules (limited to accounting matters) of Ricoh Company, Ltd. for the business year from April 1, 2002 to March 31, 2003 in accordance with Article 2 of "the Law for Special Exceptions to the Commercial Code Concerning Audit, etc. of Kabushiki Kaisha". With respect to the aforementioned business report and supporting schedules, our audit was limited to those matters derived from the accounting books and records of the Company and subsidiaries. These statutory report and supporting schedules are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the statutory report and supporting schedules based on our audit as an independent auditor.

We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards in Japan. Those auditing standards require to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the statutory report and supporting schedules are free of material misstatement. An audit is performed on a test basis, and includes assessing the accounting principles used, the method of their application and estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the statutory report and supporting schedules. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion. Our audit procedures also include those considered necessary for the subsidiaries.

As a result of the audit, our opinion is as follows:

- (1) The balance sheet and the statement of income present fairly the financial position and the result of operations of the Company in conformity with related laws and regulations and the Articles of Incorporation of the Company.
- (2) The business report (limited to accounting matters) presents fairly the status of the Company in conformity with related laws and regulations and the Articles of Incorporation of the Company.
- (3) The proposal for appropriation of unappropriated retained earnings has been prepared in conformity with related laws and regulations and the Articles of Incorporation of the Company.
- (4) With respect to the supporting schedules (limited to accounting matters) there are no items to be noted that are not in conformity with the provisions of the Commercial Code.

Our firm and engagement partner have no interest in the Company which should be disclosed pursuant to the provisions of the Certified Public Accountants Law.

CORPORATE AUDITORS' REPORT

April 30, 2003

The Board of Corporate Auditors received reports from each of the corporate auditors of the Company on their checks of the Directors' performance in fiscal 2003, from April 1, 2002 to March 31, 2003. The board prepared this report with the corporate auditors' consensus.

1. Scope of Audit By Corporate Auditors

Each of the corporate auditors, in accordance with the policy and work shares prescribed by the Board of Corporate Auditors, attended the meetings of the Board of Directors and other important meetings of the Company, received reports on business operations from the Directors, etc., inspected important written approvals, etc., inquired into the activities and assets of the head office and principal places of business, and had the subsidiaries of the Company submit reports on their business operations whenever necessary. The board also received reports and briefings from the independent auditors, and examined the accounting documents and schedules of the Company.

With respect to any transactions by the Directors, transactions between the Directors and the Company involving a conflict of interests, the gratuitous provision of profits by the Company, and any other transactions not customary in nature between the Company and its subsidiaries or shareholders, and acquisition and disposal of treasury shares, we, in addition to the above mentioned auditing, asked the Directors, etc., to submit reports, whenever necessary, and examined these transactions in detail.

2. Results of Audit

- (1) The procedures followed and the results produced by Asahi & Co., the independent auditors, in their auditing are reasonable and appropriate;
- (2) The business report of the Company fairly presents the position of the Company in accordance with laws and ordinances and the Articles of Incorporation of the Company;
- (3) The proposal for appropriation of retained earnings of the Company contains no particulars to be pointed out in the light of the financial position of the Company and other circumstances;
- (4) The schedules of the Company fairly present the matters to be stated therein and contain no particulars to be pointed out; and
- (5) The Directors performed their duties honestly in accordance with laws and ordinances and the Articles of Incorporation of the Company, including in fulfilling their duties toward subsidiaries.

With respect to any competitive transactions by the Directors, transactions between the Directors and the Company involving a conflict of interest, the gratuitous provision of profits by the Company, and any other transactions not customary in nature between the Company and its subsidiaries or shareholders, and acquisition and disposal of treasury shares, we concluded that none of the Directors swerved from their duties.

DOCUMENTS FOR REFERENCE IN EXERCISING VOTING RIGHTS

1. Number of voting rights of all shareholders: 736,045

2. Agenda and Information

Agenda 1: Approval of the proposed appropriation of retained earnings for fiscal 2003 (April 1, 2002 to March 31, 2003)

The proposal for appropriation of retained earnings is described in the attached document (See p. 14).

Cash dividends to shareholders at the end of the current term will be paid, in consideration of our business results for the current term, the strengthening of our corporate structure, and the expansion of business in the future, at the rate of $7.00 per share. Including interim cash dividends for the current term, shareholders will earn a total of $14.00 per share in cash dividends.

Agenda 2: Purchases of its own shares

To be able to carry out a flexible capital policy in the face of the changing business climate, the Company wishes to acquire treasury stock within the limits of 32,000,000 ordinary shares, worth ¥60 billion, in accordance with the provisions of Article 210 of the Commercial Code. The acquisitions would be from the period after the closing of this general meeting to the closing of the next ordinary general meeting of shareholders.

Agenda 3: Partial amendment of the Articles of Incorporation

- (1) Reasons for changes
 - 1) To support further operational progress, add "direct marketing through the Internet, facsimile, and telephone, etc.," to the business purpose (Change proposal 3-8).
 - 2) Based on a resolution of a board meeting held on March 28, 2003, the Company retired 7 million shares of treasury stock, thus altering the number of shares issued and outstanding (Change proposal 5-1).
 - 3) In accordance with the implementation of the Law Amending Part of the Commercial Code (Law No. 44, 2002) on April 2003, systems were introduced to handle lost share certificates and purchase additional fractional unit shares. In addition, the requirements for quorums for special resolutions at general shareholders meetings can be eased subject to the provisions of the Articles of Incorporation.
 - Accordingly, the Company proposes such amendments as the regulation of the register of lost share certificates, the introduction of purchases of fractional unit shares for the benefit of shareholders, and a reduction in quorums for special resolutions at general shareholder meetings to one-third of the voting rights of all shareholders to make the adoption of special resolutions more feasible (new additions to Articles 7, 8-3, 9, and 14-2).
 - 4) On May 1, 2003, the Law Partially Amending the Law Concerning the Special Measures Applicable to Auditing Practices as Provided in the Commercial Code and Incorporated Companies (2001; Law No. 149) came into effect, mandating an extension of the terms of office of auditors from three years to four (Change to Article 25 of Articles of Incorporation).
 - On April 1, 2002, the Law Partially Amending the Commercial Code (2001; Law No. 128) was implemented, leading to convertible bonds with right of new share options, eliminating the need in articles of incorporation to specify initial dividend conversion dates for convertible bonds. Once all convertible bonds that the Company issues are redeemed, Article 33 of the current Articles of Incorporation would be deleted.
 - 6) Changes to the number of articles through the creation of new ones and changes to existing articles.
- (2) Details of proposed revisions
